LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WRITERS' ROLL CALL

Dear Sir:

The article by Hernando Téllez in the June issue ["Colombia's Grand Old Man" in the May English edition] leads me to believe that a page devoted to literary men is indispensable for many readers who—like myself—would like to know more about the lives and achievements of the novelists and poets of America. To carry out this idea, . . . Venezuela could tell us of men like Gallegos, Uslar Pietri, Juan Liscano, Ramón Díaz Sánchez. The United States could make us aware of the existence of others on a level with Faulkner, Hemingway, Steinbeck, Frank, or Sinclair. Argentina could show its roster of brilliant writers who have awakened profound admiration—like Gálvez, Güiraldes, Mallea, Lynch. Brazil could put us in contact with Machado de Assis, Jorge de Lima, and so on. Let us hear from all the nations of the Hemisphere. . . .

C. G. Natteri Rivera
Lima, Peru

TAPPING THE JUNGLE

Dear Sirs:

. . . I believe that Alfredo Medina's methods [of opening up the jungle to sensible exploitation, described in "Green Gold in Yucatán," September 1950 AMERICAS] can be employed in areas of Brazil for the purpose of lifting the present low standards of living.

I am directing my total energies toward this end and . . . shall appreciate all information you can give me or direct me to, for my decision is of a permanent nature. . . . I plan to spend about eighteen months—to be exact, no more than eighteen months—in preparing [for] this goal, and it is essential and necessary that I obtain help from those who possess the knowledge, for I cannot live long enough to come about it all by experience.

Lewis Dalessio
Anderson, Indiana

Since we are not in a position to supply the detailed information Mr. Dalessio needs, we suggest his writing to the Brazilian Government Trade Bureau, 551 Fifth Avenue, New York 17, N.Y., for material about Brazilian policies on creation of new industries; and to the chief of the Public Health Division, Pan American Sanitary Bureau, Washington 6, D.C., for answers to questions about public-health and sanitation problems.

ARCHITECT OF FRIENDSHIP

Dear Sirs:

Your readers may be interested to know that in recognition of the work performed by Mr. Harvey Wiley Corbett, architect and president of the Avenue of the Americas Association, the Americas Foundation has honored him with its 1951 award for outstanding service toward inter-American unity and friendship.

As inscribed on the plaque presented to him, Mr. Corbett's efforts in behalf of what the Foundation considers "the greatest single contribution our peoples can make towards lasting peace" consist in having "given generously of his talent in the planning of a magnificent thoroughfare, the Avenue of the Americas, as the central artery of the world's greatest city, and . . . in the Columbus tradition . . . dared to chart a new path to a better world and the lasting symbol of inter-American fraternity and good-will."

The award was made at the Foundation's annual Columbus Day luncheon. Others who have been so honored are Alberto Gainza Paz (1950), Tom Wallace (1949), Herbert Hoover (1948), George S. Messersmith (1947), Sumner Welles (1946), Nicholas Murray Butler (1945), and Juan T. Trippe (1944).

Mr. Corbett's efforts have already been rewarded by the placing of the statues of two great American liberators in a plaza at the head of the avenue, and plans are already under way for other similar statues.
